INTERMEDIATE COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS BELONGING TO THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Diocesan Colleges.

These Colleges, established in the several Dioceses under the immediate patronage of their respective Bishops, are primarily intended as seminaries where students who intend to take Holy Orders are prepared for admission to St. Patrick's College, Maynooth; the majority of their pupils are, however, educated for entrance to the other professions and to official and commercial pursuits. The teaching staff usually consists of secular clergymen aided by lay Professors.
